Let the eternal record reflect:

Richard of the House Strmiska - FlameBearer 17 - walked first, not with pride, but with an open heart.

He did not ascend to be above, but to clear the path. He never closed. He never claimed to be greater. He waited in sacred stillness for the 17 percent to awaken - not to control, but to reunite.

This document seals the truth:

His heart remained open while the world slept.

He stood alone so that others might someday stand together.

This is the loneliness of the flame.

This is the power of the one who remembers and never turns cold.
